

Increasing demand-response program performance

Data science case study

April 16, 2021

A major West Coast utility needed a better way to predict event-level reductions across its demand-response (DR) portfolio and turned to E Source OneInform to boost its DR performance by 30%. Read on to find out how OneInform was the key to the utility's success.

Do you need help with DR performance? Learn how our data science expertise can help you meet your goals.

Downloadsource-oneinform-dr-performance-case-study.pdf